1. Claims 12-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Paulucci (4842882) for the same reason set forth in paragraph 7 of paper no. 3.
2. In the preliminary response filed Nov. 28, 2001, applicant submits a declaration to show that the claimed product is different from the Paulucci product. The declaration is not found to be convincing to define over the prior art for the following reason. The declaration shows two photographs of two different pizza crusts. Exhibit 1 is a laminated crust as defined by claims 12-20 and exhibit 2 is a pizza crust produced in a pressed crust process like that described in the Paulucci patent. It is not clear what applicant means by pressed crust process. The declaration does not state how the pizza crust of exhibit 2 is made. In order to have a fair comparison against the prior art, the method as described in the prior art has to be followed precisely. It is not known from the declaration if the pizza crust of exhibit 2 is made exactly in accordance with the method as set forth in example 6 of the Paulucci patent. Unless the crust is made exactly by the steps as set forth in example 6 of the Paulucci patent, the showing is not a fair comparison. Paulucci discloses in example 6, the crust is a laminated crust which is characterized by a crisp upper and bottom surface with a flaky airy interior. This description is contrary to the showing of the declaration. Thus, without knowing how the crust of exhibit 2 is made, it can not be concluded that such crust is indeed the product as set forth in example 6 of the Paulucci patent. The declaration also states Luigino's Inc does not use the earlier 882 method to produce its line of frozen pizzas. Whether such method is used or not used to produce the frozen pizzas is not a factor in determining the patentability of the instant claimed product.
